SF Airlines Launches Cargo Flights Between Narita and Xi'an on November 5!

SF Airlines launches a new cargo service between Narita and Xi'an on Saturday, 5 November 2022. SF Airlines is a cargo airline established in 2009 and is based in Shenzhen, China. It has an extensive domestic network in China as well as a global air cargo service.

It transports a wide range of cargo, including e-commerce goods, apparel and electronic components, etc. The new service is expected to inject more stimulus into cargo traffic between Japan and China. Narita Airport will continue to work on expanding its international cargo network in order to provide even more convenient services.
