

Narita Airport to Become More Convenient for Late Night and Early Morning Users

Tokyo, 26 June 2014: Access to Narita Airport is becoming better and more convenient. In addition to the introduction of early morning and late night discounts in the airport car parks, extra train services will become available for those time periods during the summer peak season again this year along with new early morning bus services.

1. New discounts on early morning and late night parking!

Car parking at the airport will be cheaper and more convenient.

For early morning and late night parking within Narita Airport, customers using the car parks for over 6 hours up to 24 hours will receive a 50% discount, and those using the car parks for longer than 24 hours will receive a discount equivalent to 24 hours' worth of parking charges.

- Examples of standard car charges

Parking duration	P1,P2		P3,P5
	Standard charge	After discount	Standard charge	After discount
Over 6 hours up to 24 hours	2,060 yen	1,030 yen	1,540 yen	770 yen
Over 24 hours up to 48 hours	4,120 yen	2,060 yen	3,080 yen	1,540 yen
Over 48 hours up to 72 hours	6,180 yen	4,120 yen	4,620 yen	3,080 yen
Over 72 hours	2,060yen discounted from standard charge		1,540yen discounted from standard charge

- Effective date: 11 July 2014
- Applicable car parks: Car parks P1, P2, P3 and P5 at Narita Airport
- Conditions: Discount will apply to cars parked for 6 hours or longer, entering the car parks between 00:00 and 08:00, or leaving between 22:00 and 02:00 the next day. All types of vehicles (automobiles, buses, motorcycles) are eligible for this discount.
- How to receive discount: Pay as usual at the payment machines or at a manned toll booth at the car park exit.

*Discount will not apply on the following days: 2-6 May, 11-17 August, 29 December-4 January

Vehicles entering and leaving the car parks during/on these days will not receive a discount.
