

Commencing 21 July, Scoot will launch a brand new service operating Narita - Bangkok (Don Mueang) - Singapore!

Tokyo, 17 May 2016: Narita International Airport Corporation(NAA) is delighted to announce that Scoot (IATA code: TZ) will launch a new Tokyo (Narita) - Bangkok (Don Mueang) - Singapore service as described below, commencing on 21 July 2016.

This will boost Scoot's Narita - Singapore operation to a double daily service. This new service will not only tap into the booming demand for travel from Thailand and Singapore to Japan, it will also provide another economic option for Japan outbound travelers to Bangkok and Singapore on the low cost carrier and offer another convenient choice for excursion travel, taking in Taipei to which Scoot already operates.

For Narita Airport, which now has 60 flights a week operated by 5 carriers to Bangkok, its most popular destination in South East Asia, the new Scoot service will add a greater level of convenience, bringing the total number of flights to Bangkok to 67 a week (10 a day) operated by 6 carriers.

With yet one more addition to Narita's extensive network, why not take advantage of this unparalleled choice of air transport operations.

Sawadee Khrup, Tokyo!

Singapore – Fresh from chalking up its first ever full-year profit for financial year 2015/16 last week, Asia/Pacific's Best Low Cost Airline¹ for two years running will soon Scoot to Tokyo via Bangkok!

From 20 July, Scoot's daily Singapore-Bangkok-Tokyo services will offer guests an opportunity to sample the famed and well-loved cuisines of both Thailand and Japan in one itinerary. Style aficionados can also enjoy a plethora of diverse shopping options, ranging from on-trend threads with an ethnic twist in the City of Angels to the exhilarating and constantly evolving subculture fashions of Japan.

Scoot's CEO, Mr Campbell Wilson, said: "Scoot is excited to connect three very exciting and iconic Asian cities. Bangkok and Tokyo have always ranked among Singaporeans' top vacation spots, and there is now no reason why they can't hit up both cities in one trip! We are also eyeing the increasing demand for travel between Thailand and Japan."

"With our all-787 Dreamliner fleet – a world's first, we can offer guests on this route improved humidity and cabin pressurization, ample overhead compartment space, inflight Wi-Fi, and in-seat power throughout the aircraft. Coupled with our wide range of product customisation options, guests can enjoy unbeatable value for their travels," he added.

With this new route, Scoot's services to Tokyo will double from the present daily service via Taipei to twice daily – once via Taipei and once via Bangkok. Aside from Tokyo, Scoot also flies six times a week to Osaka in Japan and has recently announced that it would be commencing three-times weekly services to Sapporo via Taipei from 1 October. Scoot will also soon launch services to India – daily to Chennai and three times weekly to Amritsar from 24 May (rising to four times weekly from July), and three times weekly to Jaipur from 2 October.

Scoot's existing Singapore-Bangkok return service TZ302/301 will be re-numbered to

¹ Scoot was awarded Best Low Cost Airline Asia/Pacific for 2016 in the Airline Excellence Awards by AirlineRatings.com, for the second year running.
